A Level  Drama and Theatre – Year 11 -  Transition Work

Task 1: Buy or borrow from the library and read the play 'Accidental Death of an Anarchist' by Dario Fo and Gavin Richards.

Research the real-life events surrounding this play and what Dario Fo's intentions were for the play.

Task 2: Log in to DigitalTheatrePlus Home | Digital Theatre+ (digitaltheatreplus.com) using your school email address (no password required) and watch 'The Just Price of Flowers' - This is a production using many methodologies of the theatre practitioner Bertolt Brecht.

If you do not have a school email address yet, please use mbe@stbernards.southend.sch.uk

Task 3: Undertake background research into the theatre practitioner Bertolt Brecht. - Find 5 key quotes from Brecht that sum up his ideals for theatre – bring with you to your first Drama lesson.

Task 4: If you can, go to the theatre – watch live theatre (use the DigitalTheatrePlus link above) read plays – develop your passion for Drama and Theatre, create opinions and begin to explore the styles of theatre that you like best! Write a detailed paragraph about why you think Drama and Theatre is important and what it means to you

To do list:

◯ Read Accidental Death of an Anarchist by Dario Fo and conduct background research

◯ Watch 'The Just Price of Flowers' on DigitalTheatrePlus

◯ Research Bertolt Brecht

◯ Write a detailed paragraph about the importance of Drama and Theatre and what it means to you.

Have a great Summer!

Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Lebeter