

SEND- Ambition and Access in Writing

Ambition- What are we aiming for children with SEN to achieve in this subject?	Access- What amendments are made to the subject in order to help children with SEN to achieve?
At St Bridget's, we allow children to communicate their ideas clearly through their writing, using grammatical terminology. We do this by providing writing opportunities that ignite children's imaginations and encourage them to see a purpose for their writing regardless of their ability.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Providing children with resources that are suitable for their ability, such as word banks, scaffolding and sentence starters. • Pre-teaching or same day intervention when required. • Providing verbal feedback during lessons to support children with their independent writing. • A spiral curriculum which supports the revisiting and reinforcement of key learning over time. • Carefully sequenced learning steps to support planning and independence. • Starters at the start of every lesson to help embed prior learning. • Modelling and demonstrating the skills being taught. • The use of model texts to help children develop their ideas. • Breaking down learning into smaller steps to enable all children to develop independence and a sense of achievement. • Supporting children with sounding out words phonetically. • Lots of opportunities to discuss their ideas during lessons. • Placing children in mixed ability pairs/ groups to encourage conversations when discussing their ideas. • Providing a positive and supporting learning environment.
