

BTEC Tech Award Travel and Tourism

Curriculum Philosophy

The Travel and Tourism Department at St. George's sensitively fosters a deeper understanding of the world through the examination of wide-ranging, ethical and culturally rich travel experiences. Guided by the values of dignity, hope, community, wisdom, humility, and kindness, we aim to cultivate pupils' appreciation for the beauty and diversity of creation, and the unique opportunity travel offers for personal and spiritual growth. Through our curriculum, we emphasise the significance of responsible and respectful interaction with the communities and environments encountered on travels, while encouraging pupils to explore the richness of God's world and to recognise the beauty and dignity of all people, created in his image. As future leaders in the travel and tourism industry, our pupils are challenged to approach their careers with a deep sense of purpose, wisdom, and a commitment to making a positive impact on the world. By instilling these values, we hope to inspire a generation of knowledgeable, compassionate and humble travellers who are driven by the desire to bring hope and joy to the communities they encounter.

We inspire and enthuse learners to consider a career in the Travel and Tourism sector, giving learners the opportunity to gain a broad knowledge and understanding of Travel and Tourism as well as develop skills required to excel in this sector. Travel and Tourism allows pupils to progress onto a more specialised level 3 vocational pathway, an academic tourism course, or an apprenticeship. We also teach learners about the opportunities they can enter when leaving school within the Travel and Tourism industry; especially as we are located in one of the UK's most popular seaside resorts.

In Travel and Tourism, we aim to foster and ignite an interest in the Travel and Tourism industry. We strive to challenge pupils to become more resourceful and resilient by applying what they learn in the classroom to examples used in lessons and in the local area. For example, learning about local visitor attractions such as Blackpool Tower allows pupils to become more aware of the seaside resort where we live in and the opportunities they may receive. We aim to broaden pupils' perspectives to provide a global dimension to their studies. This curriculum recognises the importance of the changing of Travel and Tourism in the United Kingdom and across the world, as well as the different challenges that this may present in society.

The curriculum is highly engaging and designed to give all learners the knowledge and skills required to pursue further education within this subject area or follow a career path within the industry if they so desire.

Throughout their studies, pupils develop a strong understanding of the needs and wants of a variety of visitor types with different ethnic, religious and socio-economic backgrounds. Pupils are encouraged to develop well-informed and open-minded attitudes to cultural diversity and an appreciation of the culture of others. We capitalise on the many opportunities to enrich our pupils with cultural capital through the exploration of different types of destinations and the discovery of various cultures within the curriculum.

As part of the BTEC Travel and Tourism curriculum pupils are encouraged to respect the values and beliefs of others. One of the fundamental principles of the subject is the understanding of customer type. Pupils have a clear understanding of each customer's needs from those of a Muslim family to those of a single parent family. As a result, pupils are able to challenge stereotypical views and appreciate, positively, differences in others. Furthermore, this gives pupils opportunities to explore how beliefs can have an impact on life. To put this into practice in Year 10, pupils choose destinations and activities for the visitor to complete whilst taking into consideration religious, cultural and social features of each tourist. Furthermore, pupils are able to develop their understanding of other cultures, religions and values. For example, pupils study the key features of religious sites as places of interest. As a result, pupils explore the expectations of visits to places of religious or cultural importance. For example, when making customer briefs, pupils will include details relating to the specific requirements of the place of worship or cultural importance, for example the addition of scarves and clothing etiquette when visiting places such as Vatican City.

Likewise, the understanding of the rule of law in different places is promoted and pupils are able to make parallels to the rule of law in the UK. It is important for pupils to recognise how customers could be affected by changes to the law when travelling around the world. Consequently, pupils require a good understanding of the key features of law in places such as France and the recent ban on Muslim face coverings and factors such as the US travel ban. Pupils can also consider how the rule of law has affected the travel industry, particularly in security on flights.

Furthermore, BTEC Travel and Tourism enables moral development by exploring and responding to issues of right and wrong. Pupils are encouraged to consider how the aims of a business may conflict with what is best for their employees. Pupils will critically examine how businesses can balance this in order to suit the aims of the business and the satisfaction of the employees. Pupils will also consider the importance of customer service to Travel and Tourism organisations and understand the impacts of getting customer service right or, in some cases, wrong. As a result of this pupils are able to develop informed and well-reasoned decisions, recognising that others have different beliefs and attitudes. For the externally examined unit, pupils consider the impact that tourism has on the environment and investigate how we can reduce the negative impacts, taking a moral outlook on our earth. Within BTEC Travel and Tourism, emphasis is placed on Christian and moral values to show what is right and what is wrong within this sector.

As part of the BTEC Travel and Tourism curriculum pupils are encouraged to reflect on the influences that have shaped their own understanding of the Travel and Tourism sector. All of the units allow pupils to explore their own experiences gained from holidays, day trips and school trips. By studying real people, and real places pupils are constantly making links and able to develop spiritually.

In order to achieve a true understanding of Travel and Tourism, topics have been intelligently sequenced based on the following rationale:

- Build on the foundations of knowledge that the pupils have when they begin the course, gained from their KS3 humanities lessons.
- Teachers present subject content clearly, promoting appropriate discussion regarding tourism destinations. Teachers check learning and understanding, identify misconceptions accurately and provide clear, direct feedback, responding and adapting lessons as necessary.
- Teachers and leaders use assessment well to embed knowledge fluently, or check understanding and inform teaching.
- The curriculum begins with Travel and Tourism organisations and destinations before looking at how global issues affect these organisations and then how these organisations meet the needs of customers.
- The curriculum has been designed to take every opportunity to 'make the learning stick'. Retention strategies are embedded throughout, including weekly retrieval quizzes. Many areas of the curriculum are interleaved throughout the course with different topics and skills woven together and revisited throughout their studies.

The Travel and Tourism curriculum will address social disadvantage by addressing gaps in pupils' knowledge and skills:

- The Travel and Tourism curriculum will expose pupils to knowledge and skills they may otherwise fail to encounter in their everyday lives. The study of Travel and Tourism will develop the ability to support arguments with specific evidence. This will allow pupils to discuss and debate topical issues with confidence, credibility and clarity.
- The curriculum and provision of Travel and Tourism will support disadvantaged pupils across key stage 4 by ensuring wide ranges of tourism organisations and destinations are shown from diverse backgrounds.
- In our town there are many opportunities and careers within Travel and Tourism, it is our moral, Christian, duty to ensure that all pupils are able to access these opportunities.
- The Travel and Tourism curriculum is inclusive of all pupils no matter their circumstances, social setting, cultural or religious beliefs, gender, sex or race.
- Reference material will be delivered responsibly through adaptive teaching to support pupils in their development of knowledge and SEND pupils will be given the opportunity to study Travel and Tourism aligned to their understanding.
- Pupils will be exposed to local businesses and employers within the tourism sector. Pupils will study local tourism organisations throughout the curriculum.

We fully believe Travel and Tourism can contribute to the personal development of pupils at St George's:

- Pupils are equipped with a breadth of knowledge and skills in all areas of the curriculum at KS4. This qualification aims to inspire and enthuse learners to consider a career in the Travel and Tourism sector.
- Pupils are provided with opportunities to link education and the world of work in engaging, relevant and practical ways. Pupils benefit from a curriculum, which provides opportunities to gain a broad knowledge and understanding of, and develop skills in the Travel and Tourism sector.
- Pupils are able to enhance their English and mathematical competence in relevant, applied scenarios.
- Pupils have access to high-quality resources within the curriculum, and develop transferable interpersonal skills, including working with others, problem solving, independent study, and personal, learning and thinking skills.
- To provide opportunities to broaden pupils' cultural, social and emotional development both inside and outside the curriculum. To develop and encourage an understanding of core British values.

At KS4, our belief is that homework should be an interleaved revision of powerful knowledge that has been modelled and taught in lessons. This knowledge is recalled and applied through a range of low-stakes quizzing and practice.

Opportunities are built in to make links to the world of work to enhance the careers, advice and guidance that pupils are exposed to:

- Each topic has a 'careers spotlight', where pupils will explore a profession linked to that particular component of work. Pupils will learn about the skills required and the responsibilities of the job.
- We look at preparation for employment in the travel industry as well as the skills and opportunities required to progress.

A true love of Travel and Tourism involves learning about various cultural domains. We teach beyond the specification requirements, but do ensure pupils are well prepared to be successful in GCSE examinations:

- To be successful in the Travel and Tourism industry it is essential to know much more than the specification. Pupils are exposed to additional, and sometimes commonly assumed, knowledge of cultural, historical, political travel destinations – knowledge that they may otherwise not encounter.
- Pupils will read around the topic to enable broader exposure to the contextual knowledge surrounding both historical and topical travel issues especially since the pandemic.

Curriculum Sequencing

All children are entitled to a curriculum and to the powerful knowledge that will open doors and maximise their life chances. Below is a high-level overview of the critical knowledge children will learn in this particular subject, at each key stage from Year 10 through to Year 11, in order to equip pupils with the cultural capital they need to succeed in life. The curriculum is planned vertically and horizontally giving thought to the optimum knowledge sequence for building secure schema.
