

Rocks, Fossils and Soils

Learning Objective:

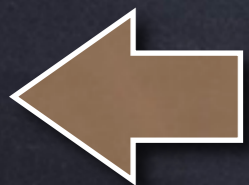

To be able to identify rocks that are used for particular purposes.

What have we found out about rocks and their characteristics so far?

Think, pair, share your ideas.

How many different types of rock can you name? Write a list below:

Types of rock:

Today you will be carrying out some research to find out about different rocks, some of the different things they are used for, and why certain rocks are used for certain things.

What different sources of information could we use to help us find the information we need?
