

Den Building

Simple way to make a sturdy den in the woods. Please don't cut anything down or damage any of the environment around you.

Good foundations

Look for a strong tree, with nooks and crannies. This will help you form a strong base for your framework.

Sturdy framework

Find a couple of large branches you can wedge together against the tree, to make the den's main framework.

Strengthen your frame

Collect more branches and lay them so they are leaning against your framework. Make them as secure as possible.

Covering your den

Cover your den with leaves, twigs. Pack them tightly so that you are protected from the elements.
