At St Mary's, we are aware that the menopause is a natural process of every woman's life, and the school is in an important position to provide the right support to female staff members experiencing the menopause.

The aims of this policy are to:

- Ensure line managers are aware of the reasonable adjustments that should be put in place to support staff members.
- Reduce absenteeism due to menopausal symptoms.

- Increase access to flexible working systems for female staff members experiencing the menopause.

Legal Framework

This policy has due regard to legislation including, but not limited to, the following:

- Equality Act 2010
- Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974
- The Workplace (Health, Safety and Welfare) Regulations 1992
- The Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999

Definitions

For the purpose of this policy, “menopause” is defined as a biological state in a woman’s life that occurs when she stops menstruating and reaches the end of her natural reproductive life. The average age that a woman reaches menopause is 51; however, it can be earlier or later than this due to a number of reasons.

For the purpose of this policy “perimenopause” is defined as the time leading up to the menopause where a woman begins to experience the signs and symptoms of menopause. This can be several years before the menopause actually occurs.

For the purpose of this policy “postmenopause” is the time after which the menopause has occurred, starting from the time when a woman has not had a period for 12 consecutive months.

Signs and Symptoms

Common symptoms of the menopause include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Hot flushes
- Palpitations
- Headaches
- Night sweats
- Difficulty sleeping
- Skin irritation
- Vaginal dryness
- Low mood or anxiety
- Panic attacks
- Loss of concentration

- Depression
- Reduced sex drive
- Problems with memory and concentration

Menopausal symptoms can occur months or even years before a woman's periods stop, and can last for several years after they have stopped.

The menopause can have a significant impact on women at work and their relationships with colleagues, e.g. if they are experiencing severe anxiety, this may have negative side effects on their happiness at work.

Not every woman will experience the signs and symptoms of the menopause; however, the list provided above is common for most women.

Staff Training

The business manager is responsible for organising training for staff members.

The school will ensure that, as part of a wider Occupational Health awareness campaign, issues of the menopause are highlighted so all staff members understand how it affects staff, and to create a positive attitude towards managing the menopause whilst being employed at the school.

The school will ensure all female staff members are provided with sufficient information as to where they can access support for any issues that arise as a result of the menopause.

Training will be refreshed on a bi-annual basis for all staff members.

Attendance Procedures

Attendance of staff members experiencing the menopause will be managed in line with the Staff Attendance Management Policy.

All menopause-related sickness absences will be recorded as ongoing issues, rather than individual absences.

Any requests for breaks or flexible working will be outlined in the employee's action plan.

The school will ensure that any appraisal, capability and performance procedures are not applied in a way as to discriminate unlawfully against female staff members experiencing the menopause.
