

The police are called to help find Salim.

Salim (Ted and Kat's cousin) and Aunt Gloria come to visit before moving to New York.

Salim gives his camera to Ted and Kat and goes into the capsule with other tourists.

A man offers them a ticket because he has changed his mind.

Salim doesn't come out of the London Eye capsule.

They all travel into the city to use the London Eye.

Ted figures out the mystery and phones the police to explain.

Kat and Ted remember Salim's camera and get the film developed.

The pictures help them find the stranger who gave Salim the ticket – he isn't of any help.

Dad has to go to the morgue to identify a body – it isn't Salim.