

Sparrows' Book Blog

Today is Pyjamarama Day and we have loved being in school in our pyjamas all day! We have donated £1 to the Book Trust to help make sure every child gets a bedtime story.

We have spent some time today talking about our favourite bedtime stories and we thought we would share some with you as recommendations for your next bedtime story. We have made a bed with us lying in it reading our favourite bedtime story.

We hope you will enjoy them as much we do!

