STRINGS

Listen Up!

Listen to the full backing track for William Tell, which is attached.

Can you follow your part on the Make Some Music Section (opposite)?

The trick is to keep practising it like the person in this video

https://youtu.be/jDCtyqtvCaQ

It gets much better here halfway through!

Make Some Music

Now we are ready to do the whole question section on our instruments! Remember our blue notes are on the D string and our green notes are on the A! Let's sing it first, then play it.

Violins and Violas:

11 1 11 1 11A 1 2

Cellos:

11 1 11 1 11A 1 3

STRINGS

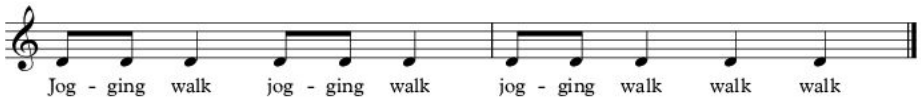
Investigate

Let's investigate Rhythm.

Rhythm is the pattern/combination of long and short sounds in music. Have a look at this video.

https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zcbkcj6/articles/z2mqw6f

The rhythm for our introduction in William Tell is:



Can you find out the real musical name for a 'jogging' note?

Can you find out the real musical name for a 'walk' note?

Can you remember any other types of note?

More Fun

The Forbidden Rhythm Game

- You need at least one other person to play, and there are no maximum number of players.
- The leader has to clap a rhythm and the other players have to copy it back...unless it is the Forbidden Rhythm.

The Forbidden Rhythm is

DON'T CLAP THIS ONE BACK (walk walk jogging walk)

If the others clap this rhythm back they are out. Last person in is the winner!
