

An Amazing Fact a Day!

Toy Invention

A study found that that the average 10-year-old child in the UK owns 238 toys, but plays with only 12 on any given day.

Imagine you were a toy designer. You have been asked to design a brand new toy, ready to hit the shops for Christmas. What would you design?

Include labels which:

identify its features and functions;

describe the materials it is made from;

highlight any decorations.

You could also try to find out:

- which country spends the most on toys;
- what the average pocket money is for children in your country;
- which toy designs date back the longest.
