

Here is a selection of History based learning activities.

Romans - Make your choice

Learn a bit of Latin and speak like a Roman: DK Findout! (video)

Make notes about a Roman Soldier using: BBC Roman Army (video) and use this link to get an extra task from the BBC: Roman Soldier activity

Create a mosaic tile pattern using small square pieces of coloured paper.

Can you find out some of the things that the Romans introduced to Britain?

Me: A History

Create a timeline of things that have happened since you have been born. Think about things that you have done, or things that have happened to you. Remember a time line is done in chronological order.

Use drawings, photos, captions to complete this task.

My Family

Ask an adult to help you complete a family tree. How far back can you trace your family? Try calling older members of the family to help you add to it. Remember to share it with them.

Learn through song
Greek Alphabet Rap
Roman Numerals Song

You can send any work to me via Purple Mash.

People throughout History

Conduct your own research into one of the significant individuals listed. Think about:

- What made them famous, and why?
- Personal information and details.
- Why what they did was / is important

Technology - mobile phones

- Has technology always been the same? Did you parents have smart phone when they were younger? How have mobile phones changed?

Interview a family member about the mobile phones they have had.
- What was their first mobile phone?

- Which was their favourite mobile phone?

- What was their first smart phone?

What games were on a Nokia?

See the image below for an idea on how phones have changed.

Rosa Parks	Guy Fawkes
Marie Curie	William Shakespeare
Nelson Mandela	L. S Lowry
Wolfgang Mozart	Queen Victoria I

A collection of mobile phones, in order of release.

- What key observations can you make about these phones?
- What similarities and differences have you noticed?

Siemens S8

Nokia 5110

Nokia 3310

Samsung
SGH D600

Samsung
S Mini

Samsung
Galaxy S6