

Email Encryption Guide

When receiving an encrypted email attachment you will first need to open the attachment message.html to begin the process of opening the message.

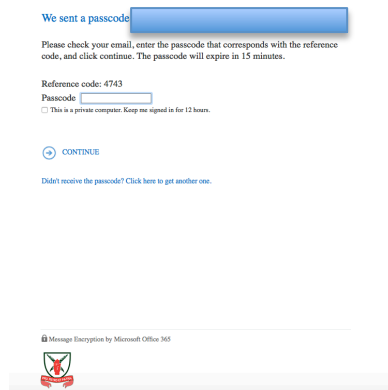

When opening message.html your web browser will open and redirect you to the below page.

In most cases it is best to click “Don’t want to sign in? Get a one-time passcode to view the message.”

On the next page you will be prompted for a passcode, check your email for a new message containing the passcode.

Once you have entered the passcode you will be taken to your attachment.
