good things start with a question

When your child is struggling with their schoolwork, it can feel overwhelming to find the time and the resources you need to help them.

When your child needs help, askOLA

askOLA is a new way to help your child learn by offering a safe and secure way for them to seek out help online, whatever their issue may be. With our easy-to-use website, children and their parents can get in touch with our vetted Online Learning Assistants (OLA's) who will help them to understand new concepts, answer questions, offer homework help and share mental wellbeing support strategies.

Our OLA's are subject experts, so you don't have to be!

A helping hand when you need it most!

Only 1/3 of parents feel confident helping their children with homework

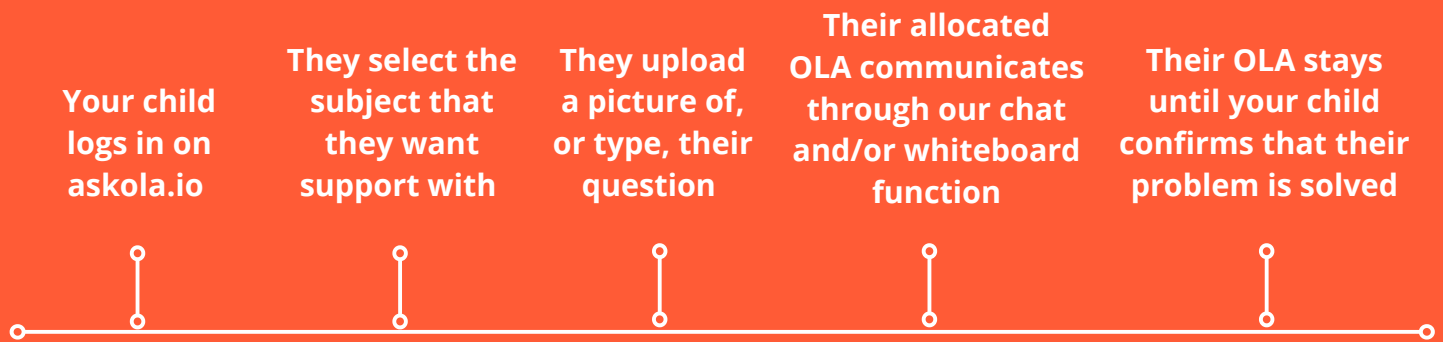

Nearly 1/4 of parents feel pressurised when their child asks them for help and 1/3 feel embarrassed when they're unable to answer a question

How it works

#theOLAway

We know that children find it difficult to learn when they don't feel good, so askOLA was developed to incorporate support for mental wellbeing built in.

Our OLA's can share tips and advice for improving mental health or signpost your child to support from qualified counselling services if necessary

Our promise to you

Our OLA's are screened through our comprehensive vetting and safeguarding procedures, so you can rest assured that your child is in safe hands. Your child won't be asked to communicate using cameras or microphones, and all conversations are recorded for monitoring purposes. We would encourage you to supervise your child when they are online.
