Dear Parents/Carers

Head Teacher: Mr M. Mountcastle

Womanchester

This year sees 100 years since Emmeline Pankhurst (who lived in Stretford) lead the Suffragette movement that, amongst many things, gained the vote for women. This week we will be referring to our home city as Womanchester and celebrating all the great female achievements and pioneers from our home region. To support this we are having a non-uniform day on Thursday and are asking that the children wear something purple. This can be any item of clothing or accessory, so please do not feel obliged to buy anything especially for the day. In addition look out for other great institutions to follow suit; Womanchester United and City and the University of Womanchester. I look forward to your support in this great week for Womanchester!

School Council

Continuing the theme of great female role models, the school council will this week be selling items for Mothers' Day next Sunday. There are various presents all very reasonably priced and a raffle. The children will not need more than £2.

Reading

Thank you to everyone who made such a good effort with World Book Day, the Book Fair and all reading activities last week, we had a ball talking about our favourite books. All the classes are currently contributing to a story which we hope to publish – details to follow.

Yours sincerely

M Mountcastle
