

Hi everyone,

This week has been another very hot one but lovely to have the sun back as it really does make everyone feel better. My neighbour has decided to buy a hot tub instead of going on holiday so let's make a wish for the sun to return soon. I also know from speaking to you and your parents over the weeks that many of you have paddling pools and have spent time splashing, chilling and having fun – you lucky things.

I know many of you enjoyed learning about Neil Armstrong and finding out about early space flight and the solar system; I can't wait to read your biographies in your books – Remember if you need another exercise book to call in at the school reception and get one.

This weeks learning is all about space adventures, with weird and wonderful planets for you to design and then use what you have learnt in your own stories. You will listen to many stories about planets, rockets, spaceships and aliens. You'll learn about two of my favourite stories; The Way Back home is all about a young boy who builds himself a rocket and blasts off into space. He lands on a faraway planet but there's a problem.....I wonder what happens? The other picture above is the story of Beegu, an alien who gets lost is tries to get back home to her mum, it's a lovely story and I hope you enjoy it too.

This week there is also lots of art and design projects like making a rocket using simple things you probably already have at home like plastic bottles, paper plates, cardboard tubes and tin foil – YOU CHOOSE!

This one is really cool - Make your own rocket <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jjU1IAgRcQg>

To make our homemade Rocket, we will need Empty plastic bottle, Vinegar, Baking soda, Cork, Wooden sticks, sticky tape and Scissors
