

Hi everyone, I hope you are all keeping safe and well and enjoyed learning about Florence Nightingale last week? Did you enjoy finding the answers to the challenges I set you?

This week over the garden fence I had a long chat with Gill my neighbour who's a nurse. Gill and everyone in the NHS are very appreciative of everyone's good wishes and acts of kindness. On Tuesday 12th May it was International Nurses Day she and her colleagues were given a lovely bunch of flowers, how kind!

On Thursday I went to see my mum for the first time in 9 weeks because she is in isolation. I stood below her apartment balcony window and had a little chat and a little cry because I've missed her so much, it was lovely to see her. I know all of you are missing your families too, it's hard and we all need to keep brave and stay safe.

This weeks learning is all about superheroes and your mission – should you choose to accept it is to read about and create your own superhero stories. I know you'll have lots of fun doing this, remember to keep writing in your books because I'd love to read your stories. If you need another exercise book there are some in the school reception at school for you to take, (you can pop in any time between 9 and 3, Monday to Friday).

There are loads of great games to help you with your English skills on the website below. Play them whenever you like to help with remembering what we've done in class and help you become even better writers.
