

Learner of the Week

Focus – Being Resilient (Curriculum Driver)

Africa

Rumaysah – For being really brave and using your voice to make lots of new friends, you are a lovely friend Rumaysah.

George H – For trying lots of new foods, we love spending time with you at lunch time George!

Antarctica

Charlie – You are working hard at getting used to all our routines and the new learning we have been doing. You are being brave and showing great resilience.

Quinn – You are working very hard to regulate your feelings in the mornings and you are try lots of new things even if it feels a bit scary.

Australia

Veer – For working so hard on your writing patterns and pencil control. You recognise that this is a slightly challenging activity, but you try your best and show such pride when you complete each page. I hope you're proud of yourself!

Rafe – For coming into school so beautifully and facing all your new learning and experiences with a smile. You are a superstar and I'm so happy you're in Australia with us.

Europe

Jayden and Agnes – Jayden, you have embraced the world of Europe Class with open arms, the most beautiful smile and so much excitement. Agnes, you have so much knowledge to share, so much laughter to give and I can see you are beginning to make some very special friendships. You were both the missing pieces to our class and we are so proud of you both!

Asia

Fionn – For showing fantastic resilience by always accepting feedback and using it to improve your work. You approach challenges with a positive attitude and are growing into a wonderfully independent learner.

Ellie – For showing great resilience as you build your confidence to share your ideas and put your hand up more. You are becoming braver every day, especially in Maths, where your hard work and determination shine through.

South America

Ernie- You have shown fantastic resilience in asking for help with your English work. You have also been coming up to me to show me the words you can read in your reading book which is lovely to see! Well done, Ernie!

Word of the Week

Kit- You showed resilience in your wonderful sentence writing about things to do with the friendly ghost in English. I was very impressed with your careful handwriting too. Well done, Kit!

North America

Wilf C - You have persevered when you have found things challenging this week in English, constantly working hard to come up with the best ideas and asking for help when unsure. Well done Wilf, we love you being a part of our class!

Maggie - You have shown huge resilience this week. Coming into school in the morning can be tricky, and it is so lovely to see you with a big smile by the time it is the register. You should be so proud of how brave you are every single morning, you are doing brilliantly.
