

 Learner of the Week

Focus - Teacher's choice

Africa

Leo V – For fabulous drawing and working really hard to write your own name. Well done Leo, you superstar!

Quinn – For joining in brilliantly with all our phonics learning, you are becoming a phonics whizz Quinn!

Antarctica

Niamh – You has persevered and tried really hard, remembering to ask for help when you need it.

Albie – You have been making lots of great choices all week and you have been kind.

Australia

Liam - For your brilliant writing, you work so hard every week to write your fantastic sentences, with amazing imagination. I love watching how proud you are too – well done!

Fionn - You are a true ray of sunshine in the classroom, Fionn. You always show care and compassion towards your friends, and Miss Bartle and Mrs Sandhu! You are a wonderful friend, and your kindness never goes unnoticed.

Europe

Alex – For the commitment and dedication you have given to all of your learning! I feel so proud of just how proud you feel when you have achieved something great – which is all of the time!

Zachary – For using the most fantastic vocabulary during our learning about the life cycles of butterflies and frogs! You have made our conversations and your writing feel so mature and grown-up and you should be very proud of yourself!

Asia

Maxi – For the fantastic determination you've shown in your work this week. You've taken your time and consistently persevered until each task is complete, without rushing. You've created some truly lovely work that you should feel very proud of.

Lewis - For listening so nicely on the carpet and sharing your ideas about your favourite fruit in this week's DT lesson. You were also super brave when you stood up and showed everyone how to halve 4 in Maths. Well done!

South America

Rico- For coming into school beautifully and settling into your learning tasks for the day. You have been using your super maths reasoning skills this week to explain your answers about what a half, third and quarter is in fractions. Well done Rico!

Word of the Week

Liyaa- I have noticed how you are taking special care and time to write your letters using the correct letter formation. You have also tried really hard to include apostrophes, conjunctions and detail in your recount. Well done Liyaa!

North America

Cora – For displaying such wonderful knowledge of the life cycle of a butterfly and helping to keep the class butterflies healthy and strong.
Thank you!

Lexi – For showing such wonderful resilience and persistence with your learning. You worked so hard in English this week to correctly add possessive apostrophes into your work. Well done!
