

R.E Curriculum Overview

EYFS

	Autumn	Spring	Summer
R.E.	F1 How can people show they belong together?	F2 Who are the people in sacred (special) stories and why might they still be important today?	F3 How do people know how to treat each other?
Sticky Knowledge/ Key concept	-Some people choose to belong to religious communities - People can show their worldview through symbols or what they choose to wear. - Some people go to places of worship to feel close to God e.g. church, mosque/masjid, gurdwara. - Some people remember special times by celebrating together and we call those time festivals. - Many people feel it is important to work together to care for the world and help others. - Some people think it is important to be respectful to God by wearing particular clothes or doing certain things.	-Sacred stories impact people today, through celebrations, festivals or lived experience. - Jesus is an important figure for those with Christian worldviews. - The Nativity Story (the birth of Jesus) has a connection with Christmas celebrations in Britain and worldwide. - Sacred stories are often important in religious worldviews and the people in them are often seen as good leaders/examples. - Muhammad (PBUH), Rama and Guru Hargobind Ji are special leaders who are sacred in Muslim, Hindu and Sikh worldviews and stories about them can be found in sacred texts and often link to celebrations. - People with Humanist worldviews will often look to other stories for guidance in life, such as fables and other important moral stories.	-Confucius was an ancient Chinese philosopher who taught that wisdom involved treating others with kindness and respect. - The 'Golden Rule' is a philosophy focused on treating others how you yourself would want to be treated and is common in many different organised worldviews. - Jesus and the stories he told are important for most people with Christian worldviews and can provide inspiration for how to treat others. - Muhammad (PBUH) and the stories he told are important for most people with Islamic worldviews and can provide inspiration for how to treat others. - Stories are important in different Dharmic traditions for inspiring people on how to treat others. - People with non-religious worldviews are also often inspired by stories when considering how to treat others.