

Planning & Assessment 2020/21

Teaching teams, including class teachers, specialists, and Multi-Agency Support Team (MAST), use the curricula, rolling plan of themes and the learner's Personal Learning Intentions (PLIMs), to design medium term plans for groups of learners which are reflective of the specific needs and interests of each class group.

Medium term plans are then used as a base for the weekly/daily planning. Teaching teams use the Monday planning meeting time with their individual class teams to discuss and refine the weekly planning. Throughout the week, adaptations and amendments to the planned teaching and learning activities will be made by teachers through assessment of learning, marking and feedback, and reflections with their class teams, which may be captured on Evidence for Learning observations.

Next steps for learning are discussed and captured during Friday Evidence for Learning reflection meetings. Thus enabling class teams to upload and discuss evidence captured of learning that has taken place that week and directly influence the planning for the following week.
