Dear Parents and Carers,

I would like to thank pupils, parents, carers and staff for such a positive start. It has been wonderful to see the children arriving enthusiastically, looking smart and settling quickly into their learning.

We are committed to providing a safe, calm and purposeful environment in which every child can learn and succeed. To achieve this, we have high expectations of behaviour, respect and personal responsibility.

The vast majority of pupils behave extremely well. However, I want to be clear that poor behaviour will not be tolerated. Behaviour that disrupts learning, shows disrespect, causes distress or places others at risk will be addressed promptly and consistently. Where necessary, appropriate consequences will be applied, and parents and carers will be contacted.

We will always seek to understand the reasons behind a child's behaviour and provide appropriate support. Nevertheless, support does not mean lowering expectations or excusing unacceptable conduct. Every pupil has the right to learn, and every member of our school community has the right to feel safe and respected.

Please support us by reinforcing these expectations at home and encouraging your child to make positive choices, follow instructions and treat others with kindness and respect.

You will shortly receive a curriculum newsletter containing all the relevant information about what your child will be learning. This will be sent at the beginning of every half-term so that families can support and engage with learning at home.

Each class will also hold a class assembly during the year. Parents, carers and family members will be warmly invited to attend and celebrate the children's learning and achievements. Further details, including dates and times, will be shared shortly.

I will be writing to you regularly to keep you informed about the rapid improvements being made across the school and the positive impact these are having on pupils' learning, behaviour and experiences.

Thank you for your continued support. By working together, we can ensure that our positive start continues throughout the year.

Yours sincerely,

Gareth Thomas
Interim Headteacher
