

Daily Review: Week (Day 1)

Spotlight Knowledge: English Literature

The Titanic sunk in 1912.

Mr Birling says the Titanic is 'unsinkable, absolutely unsinkable'.

Your English Literature Paper 1 exam will include a question on Priestley's 'An Inspector Calls'.

The play was written in 1945, in the post-war era.

Winston Churchill was voted out and Labour were voted in during this year.

The play is written in 1912, in the Edwardian era.

Class differences were very distinct. The Birlings enjoy the lifestyle of the bourgeoisie.

You will need to know these things as part of your Essential Knowledge.

H.G Wells and Bernard Shaw were writers.

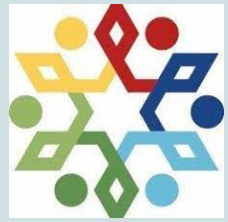

Both were socialists and Birling refers to them and the Inspector as 'cranks'.

Achievement

At TKS, you will often hear your teachers talk about your 'learning journey' and the key bits of 'essential knowledge' you will learn as you move through school.

When the moment comes for your teacher to stop more formally check what you have learned, we call these 'Assessment Milestones'. They help you and your teacher to know that your learning is progressing in the right direction.

Moving forward, you will be reminded when these are coming up in these messages.

Respect

If a staff member asks you to stop and engage it means they would like to have a brief conversation with you to assist you in making the correct choice. This could relate to your conduct, decision to wear your coat inside our campus or anything else where you might be about to make a poor choice.

They will use the language “Stop and Engage” to support you to actively listen and engage with their request.

Reflection

Reflect on Progress

Reflect on what you've learned at the end of each study session. Did you improve on yesterday's performance? What did you struggle with? This can guide your next steps and ensure you're improving gradually.

- Example: If you struggled with a specific math problem yesterday, spend a few extra minutes today practicing that type of problem.
