

Dubai

The UAE is the third-richest country in the world, below Luxembourg at number two and Qatar at number one, with a GDP per capita of $57,744. The bulk of its money comes from the production of goods and provision of services related to petroleum, petrochemicals, aluminium, and cement.

Yellowstone National Park

A national park is an area of protected countryside, for the enjoyment of the general public or the preservation of wildlife.

A super volcano is a large volcano having the potential to produce an eruption with major effects on the global climate and ecosystem.

Antarctica

Antarctica is not a country: it has no government and no indigenous population. Instead, the entire continent is set aside as a scientific preserve. Seven countries have laid claim to parts of Antarctica and many more have a presence there.

Stonehenge

Stonehenge is a prehistoric monument on Salisbury Plain in Wiltshire, England. It consists of an outer ring of vertical standing stones, each around 13 feet high, seven feet wide, and weighing around 25 tons.

Fascinating places

Galapagos Islands

The Galapagos is an ARCHIPELAGO, which means it is a group of islands closely scattered in the ocean. They are located in the Pacific Ocean.

Environmental conditions make the Galápagos a unique island ecosystem. The Galápagos Islands are located near the equator, yet they receive cool ocean currents. This makes for a strange mix of tropical and temperate climates.

Dharavi

Dharavi is a suburb in Mumbai, Maharashtra, India. It has often been considered to be one of the world's largest slums. Living conditions here are poor, as is hygiene, health and education.

Thar Desert

The Thar desert is one of the major hot deserts of the world. It stretches across north-west India and into Pakistan. The desert covers an area of 200 000km² mostly in the Indian state of Rajasthan. It is the most densely populated desert in the world.

Mekong river

In 2010 data shows 60 million people - live in the Lower Mekong Basin, using the river for drinking water, food, irrigation, hydropower, etc.

