

To be able to read fluently, means to read with speed, accuracy and appropriate expression (prosody).

ACCURACY

Things to think about...

Can you pronounce the words correctly?

Can you read the words by sight?

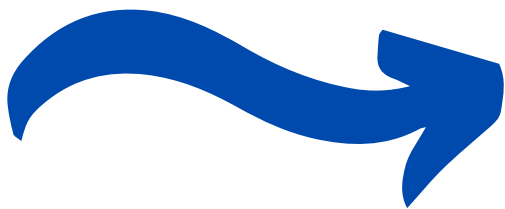

Things to think about...

Is the text read with appropriate expression?
(Your story telling voice needs to be different to your persuasive and informative voice.)

EXPRESSION

SMOOTHNESS

Things to think about...

Are you able to read, without stopping and starting, using the punctuation appropriately?

Things to think about...

Do you read at an appropriate speed - not too quickly, but not too slowly. This will depend on the content of the text.
