We have been learning about different types of punctuation.

Capital letters go at the beginning of sentences.

Full stops go at the end of sentences.

A question mark can be used at the end of a sentence to show a question is being asked e.g. Is it hot outside? When will it be lunchtime?

An exclamation mark can be used at the end of a sentence when anger or surprise is shown e.g. Go to your room! The party was brilliant!

Read through these sentences and rewrite them putting in the correct punctuation.

1. bill and ben had a dog

2.i live in Southampton

3.where is your car

4.Can we have some sweets please

5.that spider was huge

6.come and sit on the carpet now
