Headteacher's Note:

Thank you so much for all the effort that you are putting in to support your child with their home learning as well as working from home yourselves. We know that it can be very difficult at times but we are here to help in any way that we can. Thank you so much for uploading and completing the work set on seesaw. As you can see by the numbers above, your children (and you) are working so well! We are all available to provide help and support for you so please contact any one of us via Seesaw or our school email if you need anything.

Next week on Seesaw, (wb 4th May) there will be work and activities planned for Mon - Thurs as Friday 8th May is VE day and a bank holiday. To celebrate the occasion, a folder of creative activities will be available for the children and you to enjoy on Friday.

Kind regards, Mrs Stinchon head@trawden.lancs.sch.uk

Hello everyone!

We hope that you are continuing to enjoy your time at home with your families. It has been lovely to see so many pictures and videos of the different things that you have been doing. We love seeing your smiling faces and hearing your voices! We also know that it can be sometimes be tricky to do your work at home but please keep going because you are doing brilliantly. It is VE Day next week and we would have been learning about that if we'd been in school.

Please take some time to find out about this very important day and enjoy some of the fun activities that we have set for you at home. Remember to upload some of the pictures to show us what you got up to. Look after each other and have fun!

Ahoy Me Hearties!

This week you all turned into pirates and made all sorts of things walk the plank (poor minion!). Your patterned telescopes were brilliant and I'm sure quite a few of you must have been able to spot Freya's chocolate treasure. You would need a pretty good map to find it though – Oscar and Theo might be able to help with that. We have a full fleet of pirate ships – Gracie's and Luke's even float! Next week we have caterpillars and other bugs to keep us occupied and a Stay-at-home street party to organise.

Keep posting your photos and videos on Tapestry.

Hello year three,

Well another week has flown by and once again, I have been astounded by not just the amount of work uploaded to Seesaw, but the quality of your work too.

I have spoken to some of you about this week's maths work and I understand how tricky some of those questions were but many of you have taken your time and have tried and tried again to understand the question which is all I can ask of you, so well done. I have been so impressed with some of your illustrations this week in response to the 'Green eggs and ham' task, we don't always have time to draw pictures to go along with our English work in school but I can see your talents shining though now you can take your time. I must give a special mention to Noah and Lucas for their illustrations throughout the week, they have been absolutely fantastic and hopefully they will bring in their drawings to show you once we're allowed back to school.

If I was going to be choosing a star of the week this week, as we would do on Friday in school, I honestly could have chosen about 6 children for the quality of their work and the dedication they have shown. However, I would not have been allowed 6! So instead, I would like to recognise 2 children this week because of their 'never give up' attitude. They haven't found this week's work the easiest but they have put so much time and effort in and have tried, tried and tried again. So this week's star home learners are Jenna and Jamie, well done you two.

I also want to say a special happy birthday to William and Jacob who turned 8 last week! I hope you had the best day and had lots of fun with your families. Take care and I'll speak to you soon,

Hello again Year 4,

Another weekend has arrived. Well done to you for working hard on your home learning and especially well done to the five children who have posted over 40 activities! It has been wonderful seeing what you've been doing. Some of you have also been doing other activities as well with your parents and some of the lovely things I've seen this week are: Forest School, apple pie, buns (yum yum) and Egyptian pictures. Please keep up the hard work.

There aren't any class birthday before next Friday but, last week, Martha celebrated her birthday so many happy returns to Martha.

I know that it's hard staying in and not seeing your friends but there will be a wonderful time when we will see each other and both myself and Mrs Whittaker also look forward to that time. In the meantime, make the most of your family, do fun things together: go for a walk, a bike ride, have a picnic at home, build dens inside or in your garden/back yard, bake something, design some exercises and make it into a game, play a board game or do some art. I'm sure you can think of other things too!

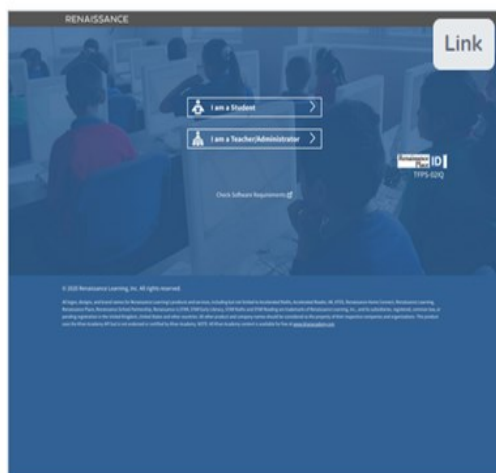

Stay safe and be kind to everyone.

Love from Mrs Atkinson and Mrs Whittaker

So what can you do if your child has finished all of the books you have at home? If your child uses Accelerated Reader, they can use MyOn to gain access to around one thousand books that they can take quizzes on using accelerated reader. Take a look using <https://readon.myon.co.uk/> A very kind teacher created this list <https://padlet.com/AddeysLibrary/och8okob5xfuggv7> which is full of superhero books you can read on MyOn and complete quizzes on. There's no need to filter and search in this way, just pick a book, read it and complete a quiz! Don't forget to use https://

Ukhosted72.renlearn.co.uk/2241451 to complete quizzes on the books you have read whilst staying safely at home to count towards your word count.

For our younger children, Oxford Owl <https://home.oxfordowl.co.uk/books/free-ebooks/> have free e-books across the bands which broadly match with our reading scheme in school. This is one way to safely access books and keep reading at home, and all you need to do is register for free on the website. Oxford Owl have also created phonics games and activities such as this one <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCIfXfCNYQvsRepWxT7n8A> to keep the learning going. In addition to this, the following websites also provide free books for younger (and older!) children;

So, in these times where we all have to stay in one place, go anywhere with a love of books!

Hello Year 2!

I hope that you are all safe, well and remembering to wash your hands regularly. Thank you again for another amazing week of learning, you are keeping me extremely busy! Again, you have produced incredible work and even created more videos to show your learning, which have been wonderful to see. Last Friday we had just over 400 posts in our class journal on Seesaw, today we have 750 posts! We have the more posts than any other class, so please help me to keep this up. As many of you really enjoyed cooking or baking with your adults for the bucket list activity, your English work for next week is all about recipes and there is an option to cook and bake with your adults again (if you have the ingredients and want to). Have a fantastic weekend and I look forward to seeing what you get up to next week.

Hello Year 6,

What an amazing week Year 6! You have surprised us, delighted us and even overwhelmed us at times this week with your work.

We have seen how many of you have persevered with some interesting Maths challenges and successfully tackled scale factors with determination! Several of you have become Maths Wizards this week and have enjoyed the Magic Domino trick!

In addition to all the impressive Maths work, we have read some enchanted pieces of writing linked to the Nowhere Emporium and the world of mystery! I have even had to reach for my supersized dictionary at times to find the meaning of ambitious words which you have used: amazing! Mrs Bottomley and I think we have some budding authors in our team!

Keep up the great work you are doing and we hope you take time this weekend to kick back and relax. I am sure you will all join with me to wish Happy birthday to Jack for this week! You might want to think of all the hard work you've done this week and feel proud of what you've achieved as we are proud of you all. OUR TOP TEAM!

Well done Year 6, Mrs Clark, Mrs Bottomley and Miss Gallagher-

Hello Year Five,

Welcome to May everyone. It is the best month of the year in my opinion, as spring time leads to summer and we have special things to remember. Especially this year, as it is the 75th anniversary of VE day. Look out for special activities appearing on Seesaw to mark this day on Thursday. This week, I've been so lucky to hear your voices, read your truly excellent work, see your pictures of things you've been up to, hear you reading poems and being the very 'Freshest Princes' I have ever seen! I am so glad you are all safe and happy. There are now 572 items within our journal now so by golly you have been busy this week. Keep it up, you are amazing!
