Class News Monday 14th March 2022

Year 4

Maths – This week we will start work on our multiplication module, we will learn about the commutative law. The children will make links between multiplication and division.

English – In English the children will be looking at play scripts and identifying their features. They will also be writing about their recent visit to Slough Sewage Works.

Spellings: interact, intercity, international, interrelated (inter + related) intercom, internet, interval, interview, interrupt, intersect.

Foundation – The children will start to share their river presentations on Wednesday this week. They will also have the opportunity to use the information from the Sewage Trip to consider the water cycle. In Science we will complete a whole school investigation. The children will be carrying out a practical experiment into 'the best biscuits for dunking.' In RE we will continue with our forgiveness theme.

Homework

We will start to watch the Rivers Presentations from Wednesday this week. I know that many parents have sent PPTs – thank you! The children have a maths sheet and weekly spellings. If your child completes a spelling lesson with Mrs Doran, I would like them to continue to choose, at least four, of the class spellings for the weekly test.

Finally

What a busy week! We started with the Young Shakespeare Company, managed to fit in World Book Day and then finished with a trip to the Sewage Works. I have put some photographs from the trip, onto the website.

I am hoping that the Ufton Letter will be sent home this week. There will be a meeting on Monday 21st March, at 3.30pm to share information about the trip.

I have been given the tickets for the Dance Festival on April 5th. The ticket allocation allows one ticket per family. The cost of the ticket is £3. Please contact the office to request your ticket. The children will need to wear their house t-shirt for the performance and either blue or black leggings or shorts.

Kind Regards,

Mrs Helen Dewar
