

This week we are going to have some fun with grammar, using the Activelearn website. You get on to this by using your Abacus login.

I have also allocated a book called Mixed Up Myths for you to read. This is based on the idea of Ancient Greek myths.

Monday	We have done quite a lot of work this year on how to punctuate dialogue. The Direct Speech allocation has a video to watch, then a series of games to test and improve your ability to punctuate using direct speech. Have fun with this and improve your writing at the same time!
Tuesday	Today we are going to use our knowledge of punctuating speech. Look at the picture uploaded for today. You are going to write what these two Harry Potter characters might be saying to each other. Remember all the punctuation rules – look at the video from yesterday if you can't remember.
Wednesday	Today we are looking at a class favourite! Possessive apostrophes. You should all have an allocation. It is in the same format as Monday's. Watch the video then have a go at the games. Enjoy!
Thursday	I have uploaded a differentiated sheet for you to test your apostrophe skills. Remember you can look at yesterday's video if you need to remind yourself.
Friday	Today we are going to be inspired to write. You need to use some direct speech and use your punctuation skills. You should also make sure you watch all of your apostrophes to make sure they are correct. Look at this picture and get inspired to write. You can write a whole story or part of a story. Remember to be creative with your language and make sure you keep your handwriting neat and easy to read.
