Dear Parents and Carers...

Have a lovely weekend everyone,

From us all at UPS

RED NOSE DAY!

On next Friday we celebrate Red Nose Day! We sent a letter earlier this week to say that Comic Relief has been going for forty years now and to celebrate its origins from the 1980s, we are all going to throw a big 80s-style PARTY... we'll have some 'Mr Motivator' style aerobics thrown in too, for good measure!

On this day, we ask all children to wear 80s-style gear — the more illuminous the colours the better — lycra, rara skirts, leg warmers... and particularly shellsuits(!) are most welcome!

As always, we will of course be focusing on where all the money goes...to those who need it the most!

We'll have buckets on the gates for your most welcome donations. Thanks so much for all your support, as always.

Parents Evening...

You should have received a letter for Thursday 20th and Tuesday 25th March. Please get booking!

This week, we've been predicting the outcome of, and analysing, an algorithm; exploring artefacts from Tutankhamun's tomb; adding cm and mm; practising French clothing and colours; searching for and investigating minibeasts; putting

I just wanted to share one of our new campaigns and wondered if you could share the below with your networks and get involved with the campaign on social media!

CHILDREN'S SLEEP AWARENESS MONTH IS HERE!

We are delighted to launch this campaign putting the spotlight on children's sleep because... what an importance subject it is! Did you know that up to 50% of children struggle with sleep at some point, which rises to 80% where there is a diagnosis of SEND?

Poor sleep can lead to cranky mornings, trouble focusing in school, and even long-term health challenges - not to mention tired, stressed-out parents. That's why we're dedicating an entire month to raising awareness about the importance of sleep for children.

Whether you're navigating toddler wake ups, battling bedtimes, or convincing your teen to switch off at night, we're here to help!
What's coming in February:

Practical tips for better sleep routines.

Free weekly webinars with our experts to tackle sleep challenges.

Resources, info and challenges.

We want to work together with you to make bedtime battles a thing of the past. Follow us for updates, tips, and resources, and get ready to sleep better this February! Download the supporter's pack here: https://thesleepcharity.org.uk/get-involved/awareness-events/

FRAGILE MINDS: RETHINKING SMARTPHONES AND THE DEVELOPING BRAIN

While watching my children play in the snow last week, I saw my son trying to force a carrot into the frozen head of his snowman, and it struck me, our brains are a lot like that. Have you tried learning a new skill as an adult? It's slow and frustrating, like forcing a vegetable into ice. But children learn with such ease because their brains are like soft, fresh snow. Malleable and ready to form new pathways.

The beauty of the snow gave us all a reason to be present-to sledge, build, and simply appreciate. It was a pull to get outside, to connect with the world around us. Sadly, though, the virtual world is increasingly becoming a stronger temptation than real, active play. When we allow children unrestricted access to the internet, social media, or inappropriate games, we risk shaping their neural pathways in ways that can become fixed. The instant gratification of scrolling through endless videos conditions their brains to prioritise quick rewards over deeper engagement. Modern childhood is losing the time and space for imagination and exploration, replaced by screens that steal their focus and limit their potential. By setting boundaries now, we allow their minds to grow in ways that foster creativity, resilience, and meaningful connections. Just as snowflakes are unique, so too are our children's developing minds. We aren't powerless in this journey. By making thoughtful choices and sticking together, we can help shape a future where our children thrive.
