Event at Urmston Book Shop!

Urmston Book Shop are hosting an after-school event that we're doing with Sunday Times bestselling author Reverend Richard Coles on Wednesday, the 29th of April. Reverend Richard Coles will be at the store introducing us to his brand new children's book — A Heist Before Bedtime — and I was just wondering if you might be able to share this with parents of your KS2 pupils?

A writer, broadcaster and an Anglican priest, Rev. Coles co-presented Saturday Live on BBC Radio 4 for a number of years and appears, from time to time, on QI, Have I Got News For You and Would I Lie To You? He has won Christmas MasterChef, Celebrity Mastermind twice, and captained Leeds to victory in Christmas University Challenge in 2019. A contestant on Strictly Come Dancing (2017) and a third place finalist on I'm a Celebrity... Get Me Out of Here! (2024), he exhibits huge bravery.

His books in the Canon Clement series have all been No.1 Sunday Times bestsellers, and A Heist Before Bedtime is a hilarious collection of twelve TRUE crime stories for kids, where they can dive into the world of dastardly heists, daring escapes and bungled burglaries!

You can find out more about the event here: <https://www.urmstonbooks.co.uk/rev-richard-coles-meet-and-greet>

Please note that this a ticketed event and a ticket will be needed to participate in the meet and greet. Each ticket comes with a signed copy of the book (£14.99 RRP). Copies of Rev. Coles' books for adults will also be available to buy and sign on the day.

Top Tips for... MANAGING SCREEN TIME

According to the latest stats, people aged between 8 and 17 spend four hours on digital devices during an average day. Obviously, a new year is ideal for fresh starts and renewed efforts – so lots of families are trying to cut down their combined screen time right now, creating more moments to connect with each other and relying less on gadgets to have fun. Our top tips on reducing screen time are for everyone, so you can get your whole family involved in turning over a new leaf this year!

BUY MILK

GET OUT AND ABOUT

If the weather's decent, spend some time in the garden or go for a walk. Even a stroll to the local shop would do: the main thing is getting some fresh air and a break from your screen.

TRY A TIMED TRIAL

When you're taking a screen break to do a different activity or a chore, turn it into a game by setting yourself a timer. Can you complete your task before the alarm goes off?

GO DIGITAL DETOX

Challenge yourself and your family to take time off from screens, finding other things to do. You could start off with half a day, then build up to a full day or even an entire weekend.

LEAD BY EXAMPLE

Let your family see you successfully managing your own screen time. You'll be showing them the way, and it might stop some of those grumbles when you do want to go online.

AGREE TECH-FREE ZONES

Nominate some spots at home where devices aren't allowed. Anywhere your family gathers together, like at the table or in the living room, could become a 'no phone zone'.

HOLD A SCREEN TIME AMNESTY

As a family, agree specific windows when it's OK to use devices. This should help everyone to balance time on phones or gaming with enjoying quality moments together.

BE MINDFUL OF TIME

Stay aware of how long you've been on your device for. Controlling how much time you spend in potentially stressful areas of the internet – like social media platforms – can also boost your wellbeing.

'PARK' PHONES OVERNIGHT

Set up an overnight charging station for everyone's devices – preferably away from bedrooms. That means less temptation for late-night scrolling.

SWITCH ON DND

Research shows that micro-distractions like message alerts and push notifications can chip away at our concentration levels. Put devices on 'do not disturb' until you're less busy.

TAKE A FAMILY TECH BREAK

Set aside certain times when the whole family puts their gadgets away and enjoys an activity together: playing a board game, going for a walk or just having a chat.

SOCIALISE WITHOUT SCREENS

When you're with friends, try not to automatically involve phones, TVs or other tech. Having company can be loads more fun if your attention isn't being split.

WIND DOWN PROPERLY

Try staying off phones, consoles, tablets and so on just before you go to sleep. Reading or just getting comfy in bed for a while can give you a much more restful night.

FRAGILE MINDS: RETHINKING SMARTPHONES AND THE DEVELOPING BRAIN

While watching my children play in the snow last week, I saw my son trying to force a carrot into the frozen head of his snowman, and it struck me, our brains are a lot like that. Have you tried learning a new skill as an adult? It's slow and frustrating, like forcing a vegetable into ice. But children learn with such ease because their brains are like soft, fresh snow. Malleable and ready to form new pathways.

The beauty of the snow gave us all a reason to be present-to sledge, build, and simply appreciate. It was a pull to get outside, to connect with the world around us. Sadly, though, the virtual world is increasingly becoming a stronger temptation than real, active play. When we allow children unrestricted access to the internet, social media, or inappropriate games, we risk shaping their neural pathways in ways that can become fixed. The instant gratification of scrolling through endless videos conditions their brains to prioritise quick rewards over deeper engagement. Modern childhood is losing the time and space for imagination and exploration, replaced by screens that steal their focus and limit their potential. By setting boundaries now, we allow their minds to grow in ways that foster creativity, resilience, and meaningful connections. Just as snowflakes are unique, so too are our children's developing minds. We aren't powerless in this journey. By making thoughtful choices and sticking together, we can help shape a future where our children thrive.
