Equalities Policy

Updated: November 2025

Review Date: November 2028

Introduction

Valley Primary School is an inclusive learning community; we focus on the well-being and progress of every child and we are committed to ensuring all members of our community are of equal worth.

We believe that the Equality Act provides a framework to support our commitment to valuing diversity, tackling discrimination, promoting equality and fostering good relationships between people. It also ensures that we continue to tackle issues of disadvantage and underachievement.

We recognise that these duties reflect international human rights standards as expressed in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities, and the Human Rights Act 1998.

Our approach to equality is based on 7 key principles:

1. All learners are of equal value. Whether or not they are disabled, whatever their ethnicity, culture, national origin or national status, whatever their gender and gender identity, whatever their religious or non-religious affiliation or faith background and whatever their sexual orientation.
2. We recognise, respect and value difference and understand that diversity is a strength. We take account of differences and strive to remove barriers and disadvantages which people may face, in relation to disability, ethnicity, gender, religion, belief or faith and sexual orientation. We believe that diversity is a strength, which should be respected and celebrated by all those who learn, teach and visit here.
3. We foster positive attitudes and relationships. We actively promote positive attitudes and mutual respect between groups and communities different from each other.
4. We foster a shared sense of cohesion and belonging. We want all members of our school community to feel a sense of belonging within the school and wider community and to feel that they are respected and able to participate fully in school life.
5. We observe good equalities practice for our staff. We ensure that policies and procedures benefit all employees and potential employees in all aspects of their work, including in recruitment and promotion, and in continuing professional development.
6. We have the highest expectations of all our children. We expect that all pupils can make good progress and achieve to their highest potential.
7. We work to raise standards for all pupils, but especially for the most vulnerable. We believe that improving the quality of education for the most vulnerable groups of pupils raises standards across the whole school.

Purpose of the Policy

The Equality Act 2010 was introduced to ensure protection from discrimination, harassment and victimisation on the grounds of specific characteristics (referred to as protected characteristics). This means that schools cannot discriminate against pupils or treat them less favourably because of their sex (gender), race, disability, religion or belief, gender reassignment, sexual orientation or pregnancy or maternity.

Age and marriage and civil partnership are also “protected characteristics” but are not part of the school provisions related to pupils.

The Act requires all public organisations, including schools to comply with the Public Sector Equality Duty and two specific duties.

The Public Sector Equality Duty or “general duty”

This requires all public organisations, including schools to

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation
- Advance equality of opportunity between different groups
- Foster good relations between different groups

Two “specific duties”

This requires all public organisations, including schools to

1. Publish information to show compliance with the Equality Duty
2. Publish Equality objectives at least every 4 years which are specific and measurable

This policy describes how the school is meeting these statutory duties and is in line with national guidance. It includes information about how the school is complying with the Public Sector Equality Duty and also provides guidance to staff and outside visitors about our approach to promoting equality.

The Equality Act also applies to schools in their role as employers, and the ways we comply with this are found in the Trust’s Recruitment and Selection policies.

What we are Doing to Eliminate Discrimination, Harassment and Victimation

- We take account of equality issues in relation to admissions and exclusions; the way we provide education for our pupils and the way we provide access for pupils to facilities and services.
- We are aware of the Reasonable Adjustment duty for disabled pupils and those with special educational needs – designed to enhance access and participation to the level of non-disabled pupils and stop disabled children being placed at a disadvantage compared to their non-disabled peers.
- The Head Teacher, supported by the Trust’s HR team, ensures that all appointment panels give due regard to this policy so that no one is discriminated against when it comes to employment, promotion or training opportunities.
- We actively promote equality and diversity through the curriculum and by creating an environment which champions respect for all.
- Our admissions arrangements are fair and transparent, and we do not discriminate against pupils by treating them less favourably on the grounds of their sex, race, disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy or maternity.

Behaviour, Exclusions and Attendance

The school policies on Behaviour, Anti-Bullying and Attendance & Punctuality take full account of the duties under the Equality Act. We make reasonable, appropriate and flexible adjustment for pupils with a disability and those with special educational needs. We closely monitor data on exclusions and absence from school for evidence of over-representation of different groups and take action promptly to address concerns.

Addressing prejudice and Identity-Based Bullying

The school challenges all forms of prejudice and identity-based bullying, which stand in the way of fulfilling our commitment to inclusion and equality: -

- prejudices around disability and special educational needs
- prejudices around race, religion or beliefs
- prejudices around gender and sexual orientation

Staff receive training on how prejudice-related incidents should be identified, assessed, recorded and dealt with. We treat all bullying incidents equally seriously.

What we are Doing to Advance Equality of Opportunity between Different Groups

We know the needs of our school population very well and collect and analyse data in order to inform our planning and identify targets to achieve improvements. We take action to close any gaps, for example, for those making slow progress in acquiring age-appropriate literacy and number skills. We also ensure children from all groups are challenged to reach higher levels.

- We have procedures, working in partnership with parents and carers, to identify children who have a disability or special educational need, have English as an additional language (EAL) or are LAC / previously LAC through our pupil admissions meetings and home visits.
- We collect, analyse and use data in relation to attendance and exclusions of different groups.
- We use a range of teaching strategies that ensures we meet the needs of all pupils.
- Staff are implementing the Trust's Ordinary Available Provision policy to allow equal access to a range of adaptations
- We are alert and proactive about the potentially damaging impact of negative language in matters such as race, gender, disability and sexuality, looked-after or previously looked-after status.
- We ensure equality of access for all pupils to a broad and balanced curriculum, removing barriers to participation where necessary.
- The use of assistive technology is being rolled out across the school to further increase access to learning in lessons
- Valley has an accessibility plan that is reviewed every 3 years or when a significant change has taken place.
- We will take positive and proportionate action to address the disadvantage faced by particular groups of pupils with particular protected characteristics, such as targeted support. The actions will be designed to meet the school's Equality Objectives.

What we are Doing to Foster Good Relations

- We prepare our pupils for life in a diverse society and ensure that there are activities across the curriculum that promotes the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of our pupils.
- We teach about difference and diversity and the impact of stereotyping, prejudice and discrimination through PSHE and citizenship and across the curriculum.
- We use materials and resources that reflect the diversity of the school, population and local community in terms of race, gender, sexual identity, disability and avoiding stereotyping.
- We promote a whole school ethos and values that challenge prejudice based discriminatory language, attitudes and behaviour
- As part of our wider EDI work, parent meetings are held to discuss different aspects of equality, diversity and belonging
- Pupil Agents for Change are elected annually to help promote key messaging on Equality and Diversity
- We provide opportunities for pupils to appreciate their own culture and celebrate the diversity of other cultures.

- We work closely with the school's PTA to ensure the annual cycle of events reflects the cultural diversity of the school population.
- We include the contribution of different cultures to world history and that promote positive images of people.
- We provide opportunities for pupils to listen to a range of opinions and sympathise with different experiences.
- We promote positive messages about equality and diversity through displays, assemblies, visitors and whole school events.

In order to ensure that the work we are doing on equalities meets the needs of the whole school community we;

- Review relevant feedback from the annual parent questionnaire, EDI parent surveys, parent forums.
- Secure and analyse responses from staff surveys, staff meetings and training events.
- Review feedback and responses from the pupils and groups of children from the School Council or Year 6 exit interviews.
- Ensure that we secure responses and feedback at Local Governing Body meetings.

Publishing Equality Objectives

We identify and publish equalities objectives on a four-year cycle. The objectives are reviewed each year by the schools' Local Governing Body (LGB). The template for the schools equalities objectives can be found in Appendix 1 with guidance on writing objectives is included in Appendix 2.

The LGB is responsible for ensuring that the school complies with legislation, and that this policy and its related procedures and action plans are implemented. Every governing body committee keeps aspects of the school's commitment to the Equality Duty under review, for example, in terms of standards, curriculum, admissions, exclusions, personnel issues and the school environment. Equalities objectives are set every four years by the LGB and they assess the success in reaching the objectives annually. It is also the responsibility of the LGB to attend relevant Equality and Diversity training periodically.

- maintain the highest expectations of success for all pupils
- support different groups of pupils in their class through differentiated planning and teaching, especially those who may (sometimes temporarily) find aspects of academic learning difficult
- keep up-to-date with equalities legislation relevant to their work.

Visitors

All visitors to the school, including parents and carers are expected to support our commitment to equalities and comply with the duties set out in this policy. We will provide guidance and information to enable them to do this. Information will be placed on the school website and on parent information boards.

Appendix 2 Guidance on Writing Equalities Objectives

What issues and challenges can equality objectives address?

Equality objectives may relate to any of the three aims of the public sector equality duty. They may be linked to challenges already identified in the school improvement plan, might respond to gaps identified through data analysis, or may result from consultation with pupils, staff and parents. Possible challenges include:

- Narrowing gaps in attainment between groups of pupils, for example, girls and boys
- Improving the attendance of pupils from particular groups
- Increasing the participation of particular groups in school activities
- Reducing prejudice-related bullying and the use of derogatory language
- Improving knowledge, skills and attitudes to enable pupils to appreciate and value difference and diversity, e.g. increasing understanding between pupils from different faith communities
- Improving the participation and engagement of different groups of parents and communities

Tips for developing equality objectives

The following actions will help you set priorities, and ensure your objectives are focused on outcomes.

- Interrogate data and other evidence on performance, participation and pupils' experiences. Consider data about disadvantages for groups with particular protected characteristics (such as race, gender, disability and sexual orientation). What does this indicate?
- Consult with pupils, staff and parents. What issues and concerns are being raised?
- Develop a longer list of possible issues that might be addressed through setting equality objectives. The list can be shortened when issues have been discussed and prioritised
- Think about which objectives are most likely to deliver successful outcomes
- Consider how possible objectives can be integrated with school improvement and development plans
- Involve governors in deciding your priorities
- Consider whether proposed objectives are realistic, given possible constraints on resources
- Identify whether your objectives are focused on outcomes rather than processes, systems and procedures

Making equality objectives specific and measurable

It is a statutory requirement that equality objectives are 'specific and measurable'. This is to make sure that objectives are not vague or flimsy statements, but reflect achievable improvements that the school intends to make. Objectives should be clearly focused and demonstrate measurable outcomes. You should include a timeframe to help you measure success or progress towards achieving an objective.

Equality objectives should be clearly relevant to the groups with protected characteristics named in the Equality Act (gender, disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion and belief, and sexual orientation), but may refer also to groups disadvantaged by social and economic factors.

How many equality objectives should be set?

The minimum is one. The approach should be proportionate to school size. However, given the wide range of equality issues, most schools are likely to publish more than one objective.

How should equality objectives be published?

So long as the equality objectives are accessible to parents and members of the local community, you can choose their format. You might publish them on the equalities page of your school website. It might also be useful to publish further detail on each objective, for example:

- Reasons why the objective has been chosen, including any consultation and engagement undertaken
- A short description of what is going to be done to achieve each objective

How is progress recorded?

Schools should keep their equality objectives under review. Developing an action plan can help you map actions needed to meet the objective. However, you are not obliged to publish an action plan. It is also good practice to publish information on the progress that is being made towards meeting the equality objectives you have set. School governors have an important role in checking with school leaders how objectives are being met, as well as considering whether further objectives are necessary.
