Lost and Found by Oliver Jeffers

Once there was a boy called Freddie. One day he found a penguin at his door. Freddie was not sure where it had come from. The penguin began to follow him everywhere. The penguin looked sad. Freddie thought it must be lost.

Freddie decided to help the penguin find its way home. He found out that penguins live in the South Pole. Freddie and the penguin fixed a rowing boat to travel to the South Pole. They pushed the rowing boat out to sea. They rowed for many days and many nights. Finally, they arrived at the South Pole.

Freddie was delighted. The penguin said nothing. They said goodbye to each other. Freddie looked back, and the penguin looked sadder than ever. Freddie suddenly realised that the penguin was not lost. The penguin was lonely.

Freddie quickly went back to get the penguin. He could not find the penguin anywhere. Freddie had to go back home without his friend. On his way back, he saw something ahead of him. It was the penguin! Freddie and the penguin went home together. They were the best of friends and they lived happily ever after.
