As we near to the end of yet another term, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the staff at WVA for their hard work and support .

Once again we have managed to achieve some amazing learning, as you will have seen in the weekly bulletins, despite having been hit by sickness and strike action.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank you all for your support as, without this, it would be even more challenging for us to do the work that we do.

Thank you

Miss Harris

Primary Updates

Amazing creativity and patience shown in the creation of cards for special people that we care about. Green Class wrote some really unique and thoughtful messages inside their cards and put a lot of time into making sure they were written clearly and accurately. Well done guys!

Excellent peer work during a computer session in Green Class. Working hard to communicate respectfully to each other and be extra helpful to allow others to engage in like-minded activities.

Food for Thought from Therapies at Wandle:

What people see and what people feel is a big and confusing thing!

Sometimes people's actions, words, thoughts and feelings don't match. What we say or do can look and feel very different underneath the surface.

Sometimes we use the iceberg to explore this. An iceberg can look very different above the water compared to underneath.

The light blue section above the water are the things that can see, hear, touch, smell. This may be in the form of shouting, hitting, or cross faces. It may be silence, running away, or refusal to do work. It may be a big smile, laughter and joking around.

BUT under the water are our thoughts and feelings or emotions – whatever they may be. They may be thoughts of not doing something well enough, or that something will be too hard. It may be feelings of being tired, bored, sad or scared. Everyone has their own icebergs! If someone has a speech and language difficulty as well, it can be harder to understand those thoughts and feelings on top of everything else!

Next time, when you see something like anger popping out, have a think of the iceberg and what may be underneath what is in front of us 😊

Have a lovely week everyone,
