LO: To explore themes within a text.

Each story we read has underlying themes, key ideas or messages, that run throughout it. Themes can be on many different topics, some examples include love, family, friendship or money.

Using the list below, can you think of any books you have read or stories you know which have the underlying themes?

You could also use the internet to research.

If you're struggling, re-watch the video we watched in the lesson via the task links to help you.

Theme	Story or film	How the story shows the theme
1. The power of love	Romeo and Juliet	The teenagers risk everything to be together despite their feuding families.
2. Growing up
3. Learning who to trust
4. Mis-using a great power or gift
5. Standing up for what is right
6. Courage and determination
7. The search for the truth

Based on what we have read of 'The Jamie Drake Equation' so far, can you predict what some of the themes will be and why?
