The Arctic fox is a great hunter. They have a super sense of hearing and wide ears. These two things mean that an Arctic fox can work out exactly where their prey is – even if they are under the snow!

The Arctic fox likes to eat small rodents called lemmings and small birds. They will eat berries when they grow in spring and summer. Sometimes, if they cannot find food, the Arctic fox will follow a polar bear around and eat whatever they leave behind.

Q3: Which animal will the Arctic fox sometimes follow around?

To help them to live in very cold places, the Arctic fox's body is covered in thick fur – even on the bottom of their feet! This keeps them warm all year round and helps them to walk on snow and ice.

The Arctic fox's fur is really special because it changes colour with the seasons. In winter, when there are no plants, their fur turns white to blend in with the snow. In the spring, when trees and plants begin to grow, their white fur falls out and their new fur is brown.

Q5: Why is it important for the Arctic fox's fur to change colour?
