It has been a lovely first week back after half term. The weather has certainly helped. It has been wonderful being able to plan and organise the return to school on Monday 8th March. There will be further information about this return to school next week. I am very excited to be able to write about some fun activities we have planned for the first week back. And beyond. Please take the time to chat with your child about these upcoming events.

Have a lovely weekend Mrs Dean

Well done to you all!

Lockdown and Remote Learning ... A child's perspective...

Bonjour! This is our first week back and we've been learning French. We've also started topics like the Ancient Mayans, Forces and Art. It has been lots of fun and I've enjoyed being back. Also, fun coincidence, we learnt about Thor on Thor's day (Thursday) in English, where we learnt about Myths and Legends.

In history we learnt about the ancient Mayans. It's a really fun topic and even though we just started the topic, I've learnt lots.

Recently, I've started to re-watch Star wars, which is ironic because we're doing about forces in class (also because we did Science-Fiction last term). But not 'The force' as in Jedi, because that involves defying gravity.

We started art today which was super fun! Our art topic is based of the Austrian artist Gustav Klimt, so we've been sketching people.

This week makes me feel like I've travelled from France, to Central America, to Ancient Greece and to Austria. And luckily, soon I'll be going back to school. I'm really excited to be back.

Our Gospel Value this half term is ...

LOVE

As a school family we are finding ways of living out and demonstrating the Gospel Value of Love. We are all trying to be Gospel Value Heroes.
