

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT NEWS

Nothing but the best

3rd November 23

It was lovely to welcome back students this week after the half term break. We have been straight back to work and lots of personal development. The theme of the week has been UK Parliament Week, but our main assembly this week was a live streamed one about firework safety reminding students before Bonfire weekend.

THIS WEEK'S THEME: UK PARLIAMENT WEEK

Aspirational

Community Centred

This week in tutor time students have had input about UK parliament, what it is, and the important role it plays in a democratic society. We focussed on it's purpose being; to represent people's interests, to make and shape laws and to check and challenge the work of the government. Fundamental British values are a key part of our personal development at school and focussing on UK parliament week has been another opportunity to look at two of the values; democracy and rule of law. There have also been activities shared via ClassCharts that students have started to complete and are encouraged to explore more at home. The work of parliament can impact students futures and we would encourage them to take an interest in it and get involved by debating issues, campaigning and voting in the future.

FIREWORK SAFETY: BRIGHT SPARX

Community Centred

We know Bonfire Night is an event that many students look forward to and we want students to enjoy it safely. So this week had a live assembly from the fire service to remind them of how to behave responsibly on bonfire night to protect both themselves and others. Posters have been around school reminding them of the key messages.
