Poem of the Week!

You do not have to complete any work on this week's poem but please let us know what you think? What does it mean?

What Are Heavy? by Christina Rossetti

*What are heavy? Sea-sand and sorrow:
What are brief? Today and tomorrow:
What are frail? Spring blossoms and youth:
What are deep? The ocean and truth.*

Adverbs

He heard footsteps approaching again and his heart beat Terrified, he left his hiding place behind the wall and crept forwards. Craning his neck he peered around the wall
....., they hadn't spotted him!
..... he raced out towards the crowd hoping
..... that he wouldn't be spotted.
he looked behind him. There they were! Putting on a burst of extra speed he pushed himself deeper into the crowd. Weaving left he ducked
..... into a book shop. Breathing now he stared out of the window. If they found him there he would be trapped! He saw them pass the shop, their eyes searching ..... for a glimpse of him. Moving backwards between the bookshelves he looked around him.
Everyone was staring at him; a skinny boy gasping for breath.

Learning Objective

Today we are learning to write a setting of Heorot.

To be successful...

- I will be able to use adjectives in different ways to add description.
- I will be able to describe the image and pick out key information.
- I will use some of my senses to support my description.
- I can use a variety of features/sentence types shown.

Settings!

Settings A Good One!

Remember this example from yesterday?
Try to include as many of these features as you can!

noun, which sentence

Fronted adverbial

simile

One morning, there was an empty, dead smell in the air and the ship was moving oddly, with a brisk rocking from side to side instead of plunging and soaring. Lyra was on deck a minute after she woke up, gazing greedily at the land, which was such a strange sight. Although they had only been at sea a few days, Lyra felt as if they'd been on the ocean for months. Directly ahead of the ship, a mountain rose like a giant, green-flanked and snow capped and a little town and harbour lay below it. There were wooden houses, towering cranes in the harbour, and dense clouds of birds. The smell was of fish, but mixed with it came land smells too (such as trees and wild flowers). The air felt empty and lifeless.

Let's see how we can use some of these ideas to build our own setting description.

Sentence Focus

You can also use these from yesterday to help you. How could you edit them in your own words?

Ad, same ad

Intense noise filled the hall, intense because of the thousands of voices within it.

Noun, which

Thick, stone walls were carved from the cliff, which sat below the great, formidable hall.

Fronted Adverbial

During the night, light quickly filled the horizon and reflected upon the wet, green grass of the moors.

Hall of Heorot

As the mist descended over the calm, desolate moor, vivid lights filled the horizon. Each light flickered like a sea of stars, which added life and brightness. Thick stone walls, which were carved from the cliffs below, soared like giants to form the walls of the formidable hall. Slowly, small clouds of smoke grew from the rising wooden towers, arches and chimneys. Acrid burning moved through each room, acrid because of the mountains of food being prepared for the king's men.

Can you see how features have been taken from the previous slides to help me?

SC Checklist

Remember that we use these to structure and support our writing.

Please use this alongside the examples, your plan and my audio to help you! Use as many as you can and check afterwards.
