

True or False Statements

A cold wind was blowing and a hard frost covered the ground. Tasha pulled her warm, soft coat around her because she was freezing. Her puppy had run away and she was desperately trying to find him. Her scatter-brained brother had left the gate open and the puppy had escaped. Her puppy was called Max and he was only 4 months old. He was too young to be out on his own and he would be very cold and tired by now.

It was getting dark. Tasha was feeling sad and worried. She just couldn't find Max anywhere. She kept shouting his name but he was nowhere to be seen. Where was he? She just had to find him soon because it was going to snow tonight.

	True	False
Tasha was wearing a warm, soft coat.
Tasha's dad had left the gate open.
Max was old enough to cope outside on his own.
Tasha kept shouting Max's name.
Snow had been forecast for tomorrow.

Sadly, she knew that it was time to go home. Her mum would be furious if she stayed out after dark. She would just have to keep looking again tomorrow. Maybe Max had already found his way home? Maybe someone had found him and they were trying to contact her mum? She wasn't hopeful though. Snow began to float gently from the sky. She loved snow normally but not today. Poor Max would be alone in the cold and dark. Warm tears began to roll down her cold cheeks as she headed home.

Suddenly, a rabbit shot out of the hedge in front of her. It was followed by a bouncing, barking ball of fluff. Tasha knew instantly that the bouncing ball of fluff was Max! He was overjoyed to see Tasha and she was very relieved to see him too!
