

Learning Objective

To write the conclusion to a newspaper report.
To edit and improve your writing.

I will be successful if...

- I can analyse models for the main focus and features of a newspaper report conclusion.
- I can write a conclusion to a newspaper report.
- I can revise, edit and improve my writing.

Page 7

Where we were...

We have just reached the stage of the book where Arthur has been nominated to travel to the land of gods in an attempt to reignite the fire.

"Without the great fire warming our town, every house will be frozen solid in less than a week..." Atrix warned, "and all of us soon after!" The townsfolk gasped in fear.

"But wait! There is a way we can be saved. Across the sea lies the land of the Viking gods. In a mighty hall on top of a mountain, there lives a god with a hammer that can command the skies. He alone has the power to relight our fire."

Taking a deep breath, Arthur decided that he must go and find the god of storms. Packing up his most useful possessions, he climbed out of his bedroom window and headed for the harbour. He'd had many adventures in the forest, how much harder could this be?

Page 8

Conclusion

The purpose of a conclusion is to 'round up' what has already been said and what is going happen.

Fronted
adverbial

In a desperate attempt to relight the town fire, young Arthur is set to travel to the land of gods, where there lives a god with a hammer that commands the skies. The townsfolk and all of us here at Iceland News are extremely hopeful of a successful trip. Will Arthur be successful, who knows? We can only hope for now.

Future tense

Round up

Question sentence

Your conclusion MUST NOT go further than Arthur preparing to travel to the land of gods.

Task

Now, write your conclusion. Consider the purpose and features of a conclusion and make sure that you apply them appropriately.

Your newspaper report conclusion must not go further than Arthur preparing to travel overseas.

Use the models and previous learning to help you write your conclusion.

Make sure that you check your work as you go and at the end of your writing.

Fronted
adverbial

In a desperate attempt to relight the town fire, young Arthur is set to travel to the land of gods, where there lives a god with a hammer that commands the skies. The townsfolk and all of us here at Iceland News are extremely hopeful of a successful trip. Will Arthur be successful, who knows? We can only hope for now.

Future tense

Round up

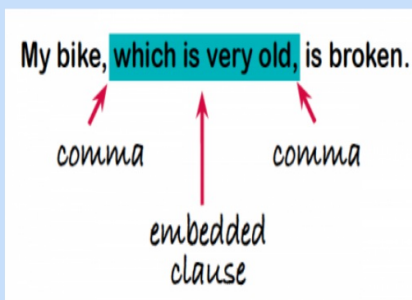

Question sentence

Edit and Improve

You don't have to submit your editing to Class Dojo, but you can if you wish. I would love to see your best writing.

This is your opportunity to look back through your work. Have you made any spelling errors or missed a piece of punctuation?

CORRECTED

Can you improve your work by including varied sentence types? Could you include a noun, which sentence, a fronted adverbial sentence or an embedded clause sentence?

Dictation Passage (without gaps)

This week, we have been reading Arthur and the Golden Rope. Arthur wasn't a typical child, he had been on many crazy adventures. Whilst venturing through the woods in his native Iceland, Arthur witnessed a mythical beast destroy his village. To save his people, Arthur is travelling to seek help. Will Arthur return a hero, or will the townsfolk freeze solid?